

The „Accident Experience“

A lot has happened in recent years on the subject of health and safety at work and jobs are becoming increasingly safer. That means that many employees have (luckily) never had an accident or it was a long time ago. And that exactly is what brings several challenges.

1. Since accidents are not present among employees, they weigh themselves into a false sense of security: „Accidents only happen to others“.

2. An accident is pure stress and exactly at this moment you have to keep cool. This is very difficult to train. Everyone has already learned “what” needs to be done. But can you really do it? And you only can proof that in an emergency situation.

That is why we offer the „Proof of Concept“ to protect you from dangerous situations. We train with specially developed accident and emergency scenarios, tailored to your company or your event. And without any risk!

The employees experience (without knowing it beforehand) very real-looking situations in which they have to react and help. But that's not all. We don't leave the employees alone with the experience. In a subsequent workshop we analyze the incident and the behavior of the participants. This is all done very constructively with a view to developing optimized behavior of employees.

„There is no point in saying: we are doing our best. You must succeed to do what is required.“

Winston Churchill

The Specialist:

Holger Schumacher was active as a stuntman for many years – including as a permanent member of the stunt team of the most successful German action series „Alarm für Cobra 11“.

Today, he supports stunt teams and production companies across Germany in the safe implementation of stunts and other dangerous filming. In addition to the development of safety concepts, the organizational development and coaching of stuntmen and performers do play an important role. It is precisely this experience and his know-how that he has been passing on across industries and companies as a risk coach and initiator for years.

In short: realistic scenarios – individually tailored. Development, planning and implementation from a single source. Absolutely safe.
